CYNTHIANA NEWS.

CYNTHIANA, - OCTOBER 23, 1869.
A. J. MOREY, EDITOR.

[For the Cynthiana News.]
OCTOBER.
BY HATING

The last sad smile of Summer time
Is lingering on the earth to-day, October radiance fills the woods,
Winds whisper low, bright flowers decay.

The mellow sunbeams warm again,
The pale cold flowers that round me lie,
Sad Autumn stands with cloth of gold,
To tell of Summer's e'er she dies.

Ah! she is dead: cold, cold, and dead,
And Autumn in the sunshine weaves
A crown for sweet dead Summer time,
Of gorgeous flowers, and faded leaves.

White clouds like ships upon the sea,
Are sailing grandly through the sky;
And dead leaves borne upon the wind,
With mournful sound go fluttering by.

The yellow dreamy sunbeams fall,
In softened splendor round my way;
And trailing sweetly over my path,
A misty veil of blue and gray.

Gives softer radiance to the scene;
Birds warble now a sweeter strain,
Among the brightly tinted trees,
Where sad winds sing a low refrain.

There is a cottage clothed in vines,
My home! 'tho' many a file away,
I hear the music from within;
Sweet home, my heart is there to-day.

In Autumn's splendor I behold,
The clinging vines with scarlet bloom,
That with the morning light unfold,
And close with evenings chilly gloom.

I see the morning-glory vines,
With showers of bloom pink, white and blue,
That watch the changes time doth make,
These days of mild October through.

The golden apples, purple grapes,
And Autumn flowers of radiant hue,
With faded leaves, and forms I love,
Are mingling in the picture too.

There father, with the morning news,
Is sitting where the sunlight falls,
In fretwork on the rustic porch,
And brightening up the cottage walls.

My pet canary warbles sweet,
As in his wire cage he swings,
And hark! I hear another voice,
My blue eyed Sister with her sings.

But two I miss, two fondly loved,
Like me are far from home away,
And well I know their hearts like mine,
Are lingering fondly there to-day.

'Tis home; 'tho' Mother comes no more,
To meet the children at the gate,
Our father's there; and lingering near,
Will not our mother's spirit wait.

To greet the children when the go,
With weary hearts to rest at home,
These Autumn winds; me thinks I hear,
A whisper, I am waiting, come.

Yes! at the gates of Paradise, Sweet mother waits, and there at last,
We all shall meet, no more to part,
When Deaths cold sullen stream is past.

Sweet Autumn time, it always brings,
Sad thought and sweet like these to-day,
But wintry winds with wailing sound,
Will wring these Autumn dreams away.

I hear 'em now his blustering tones,
The flowers around look cold and dead,
His withering wind has touched them all,
And turned the forest gold and red.

Cypress Cottage, Louisville, Ky.

It will be remembered that the Lady Superior, of the Convent at Cracow, where Barbara Ubyk was confined, excused herself on the plea that she had acted under the instructions of the General of her Order.
The Government has since referred to this dignitary, through the Ambassador at Rome, and a protocol in the Latin language has been forwarded to Vienna in reply. The General of the Order positively declares on oath that he gave no such instructions to the Lady Superior, as stated by her.

Daniel Webster and Jenny Lind.

Jennie Lind gave a concert at Washington during the session of Congress, and, as a mark of her respect, and with a view to the celebration of the anniversary of the President, Mr. Fillmore, the members of the Cabinet, Mr. Clay, and many other distinguished members of both Houses of Congress. It happened that on that day several members of the Cabinet and Senate were dining with Mr. Bodisco, the Russian Minister. His good dinner and choice wines had kept the party so late that the concert was nearly over when Webster, Clay, Crittenden and other came in; whether from the hurry in which they came, or from the heat of the room, their faces were a little flushed, and they all looked somewhat flurried.

After the applause which these gentlemen had been receiving had subsided, and silence once more restored the second part of the concert was opened by Jenny Lind, with "Hail Columbia."

This took place during the height of the debate and excitement of the slavery question, and the compromise resolutions of Mr. Clay; and this patriotic air, as a part of the programme, was considered peculiarly appropriate at a concert, where the head of the government and a large number of both branches of the legislative department were present.

At the close of the first verse Webster's patriotism boiled over; he could stand it no longer; and rising like Olympian Jove, he added his deep, sonorous bass voice to the chorus; and I venture to say that never in the whole course of her career did she ever hear or receive one-half of the applause as that with which her song and Webster's chorus was greeted.

Mrs. Webster, who sat immediately behind him, kept tugging at his coat-tail to make him sit down or stop singing, but it was of no earthly use—and at the close of each verse, Webster joined in, and it was hard to say whether Jenny Lind, Webster or the audience were the most delighted. I have seen Rabin, Lablache and the two Grisis on the stage at one time, but such a happy conjunction in the national air or "Hail Columbia," as Jenny Lind's tender and Daniel Webster's bass, we shall never hear or see again.

At the close of the air, Mr. Webster rose with his hat in his hand, and made her such a bow as Chesterfield would have deemed a fortune for his son, and which eclipsed D'Arsay's best. Jenny Lind, blushing at the distinguished honor, courtesied to the floor; the audience applauded to the very echo; Webster, determined not to be outdone in politeness, bowed again; Miss Lind re-courtesied, the house re-applauded, and this was repeated nine times, or "I'm a villain else."

I have seen Niagara and Taglionis, Mars and Malibran; I have walked through the ruins at Paestum and the Colosseum by moonlight; crossed the Menai Bridge and the Thames Tunnel, but never while memory lasts will this scene fade away.

Being something of a wag, and deeming this too good to be lost, the next day it was currently reported that Barnum had engaged Mr. Clay and Webster to accompany Miss Lind and himself as far as Richmond, and assist her at her concert. For some days nothing but Miss Lind's concert and the report about Clay and Webster, was talked of about the capital. A few days after this I was sitting in the Congressional post office, when a member came in, with whom I had always been on friendly terms, and to my usual very cordial "Good morning," the gentleman with lips closely compressed, pale as his shirt, and clipping his words very short, replied in a sort of staccato style, "Good morning, sir. Can I have a word in private?" Heaven defend me from a challenge, thought I. Still, never dreaming how I could have incurred the gentleman's displeasure, I replied very politely,
"With pleasure." After leading me some distance through the crooked passages of the Capitol, he stopped short, and looking me full in the face, and seemingly as anxious for a fight as a bull terrier, he began.

"I understand, sir, that a most insulting report has been very extensively circulated in this city about two of the most distinguished men of my party, and I have heard from more than one source that you are the author. My object, sir, is to know whether you are the author and if so, whether you hold yourself responsible." Being still in the dark and utterly unable to comprehend the drift of his remarks, I replied,
"Sir, I do not know what you are talking about; you will be pleased to speak somewhat more intelli-gibly." "Well, sir," said he, his color rising at my coolness, "I have learned from the most unquestionable authority, that you have said that Barnum had engaged Mr. Clay and Mr. Webster to accompany and assist Jenny Lind at her concert in Richmond." I never was so equally divided between an inclination to laugh outright and to get vexed and hesitating a moment whether I should abuse him for his stupidity or laugh in his face, it occurred to me that if he could swallow so much his credu-lity was capacious enough to digest much more. So compressing my lips, and trying to look as fierce as possible, I said in the same staccato tone of voice in which he had spoken, "Yes sir, I am responsible for that report, and I reckon I have seen the contract." My young opponent's jaws fell, and speaking in his usual natural drawl, he bowed politely, and evidently with feelings of great disappointment at not being able to get a fight. "I beg your pardon, sir, I was not aware that you had seen the contract."

I do not know whether he ever told any one or whether his friends let him into the secret of my disposition as a wag, but certain it was,
for some time, whenever he saw me on the one side of Pennsylvania avenue, he always had some business on the other.

I told the joke to Mr. Webster, at his own house, before the nomination of the Whig party was made and ventured to suggest to him that when he was elected President, he ought to confer some office on the man who was willing to fight for him and the honor of his party. He assured me that, if elected, the claims of this gentleman should not be forgotten.

GLEAMS OF LIGHT AT LAST!
"WAKESNAKES; DAY'S-A-BREAKIN!"
tom fletcher.

Arraigned for Some of his Minor Villanies, before the United States District Court!
WHEOO! GLORY!
MAGNIFICENT AND NINE KITTENS!

Our eyes have seen tom fletcher, the great Felonious ex-Seizer of the West—the Idol of Free Miseric"loyalty"—the Bank Stock and Railroad Fund Gobbler—the Paw-Paw Militia Bounty Swindler—the brutal, murderous ex-Bashaw—called upon to answer for some of his crimes, in a United States Court!

We've seen him in the prisoner's box—an arraigned culprit—a quaking criminal! We haven't lived all in vain! A start has been made, and God helping us, we'll yet see John McNeil hanged for murder and tom fletcher and Rodman condemned to FLOX'S CELLS, FOR LIFE!

Friday the 8th inst., Friday of the St. Louis Jassacks-show week, witnessed the dawning, after eight years of night, of a better day for Missouri and Missourians. On that day, in the U. S. District Court, was called the case of J. A. Berry versus thomas
c. fletcher and Bacon Montgomery.

Berry claims $50,000 damages for the destruction of his printing office, suppression of his paper, and personal violence, inflicted by the authority, if not by the explicit direction, of the defendants. In December 1860, tom fletcher, then by the grace of bayonets and the Devil, Head-Pas-saw of "Free Misery," sent his Chief-Bandit, Bacon Montgomery, with a hundred and fifty armed and licensed cut-throats and thieves, to this place.

Their mission was to put into office a pack of home-made ragamuffins and imported vagabonds, whom the people of this city and country, had by an overwhelming majority refused to elect. They however extended it into a general crusade against our citizens, which culminated in rapine, murder and every species of outlawry. They boasted that they were "the governor's bally boys," and that they "acted by his authority;" swore they would "wipe out the d-d retels" and "burn the town." They murdered Alvin Mason beneath the very shadow of our court-house dome; murdered Archie Clemens at the very threshold of the Episcopal Church; and murdered John Richardson on Main Street, near the Farmers' Bank. They robbed Alex.
Mitchel; and robbed the United States mail coach, five miles from town, on the Warrensburg road.
They ravished a negro woman under the eyes of Montgomery; and he himself ordered the torch applied to the City Hotel. Citizens fled for their lives, in every direction. The whole county was under a reign of terror.

For merely mentioning and commenting on these atrocities, Mr.
Berry, who was then publishing the Ray County Freeman, in our little neighbor city of Richmond, was arrested by a squad of militia banditti, his office destroyed, and he himself hurried, on horse-back, to this place.

He was ushered into the presence of Montgomery, who was surrounded by a cabal of our most villainous white niggers; was subjected to the most brutal insults and indignities; his life threatened, with horrid imprecations, a rope brought in, to hang him; a negro guard placed over him; and at last to save his life, compelled to sign an infamous recantation of all he had said in his paper.

Such is the case. Berry asks fifty thousand dollars damages. The great lawyer, Samuel F. Glover, voluntarily and gratuitously, undertakes its management. Ex-governor King volunteers to assist. Messrs. King and Child of Ray, and Messrs. Julian, Price, Bowen and Earl, of Lafayette, are among the witnesses for the prosecution, fletcher has looked upon it as a joke, but Friday of last week, showed him his mistake. All his exparte depositions—affidavits, sworn statements of our Lexington Jacobin chain gang—were summarily kicked out of court. They are said to be the most laughable and yet astounding specimens of Radical ground-and-lofty cussification, crooked swearing, limber caving, on record. One of them, duly signed and sworn, charges General R. C. Vaughan and Amos Green, with aiding Berry to raise a company of Bashawackers! Hal hal Fool Felon! His "testimony" is squashed; and compelled to rely upon the merits of his case and himself! We'll bet a mouldy doughnut, against tom's interest in Paradise,
that Berry gets the money he asks!
The ice will then be broken! The day of retribution will have dawned!
And oh, what a shaking up there'll be, of "loyal" dry-bones! Whew!
Rodman! fletcher! McNeil! Van Horn! Look out!

"There's a good time coming, boys; Wait a little longer!"
Bully! Bully-hurum!

"This man was the radical governor of Missouri."

[From the Georgia Constitution.]
Gen. Cleburne's Sword.

We have just had the pleasure of seeing and handling the sword of the brave Irish Confederate, Pat. Cleburne. We meant to put it Generaf but somehow the pen runs into the simple untitled name, plain, sturdy, truthful, Pat Cleburne. He needs no rank to give him glory. He began as Pat Cleburne, he rose as Pat Cleburne, his sturdy fighters knew him as Pat Cleburne the army proudly talked of him as Pat Cleburne, and when he fell in a bloody field like the grand hero that he was glorious Pat Cleburne that illustrated the gory altar of Franklin, and drew tears from a nation of mourners.

The sight of the relic touched us deeply. It brought to mind the many owner, and the fiery days of the Revolution. It is in the custody of Miss Gay, of Decatur, that noble lady who has so identified herself with the sacred duty of care to the bones of our dead. It was placed in her charge by Mr. John Keeley, of this place.

It is a very handsome weapon, with a finely tempered, flashing blade, in a handsomely embossed and carved scabbard, and strangely enough it bears as the name and place of its makers, "H. Marshall & Co., of Atlanta, Ga."

The scabbard has at the top, on one side, a carved medallion of Mr. Davis in profile, and on the other side the harp and shamrock of Ireland twined together.

On the first ring below the shamrock, midway down the scabbard, are the words:

"Maj. Gen. P. R. Cleburne.
Presented by his old Regiment, 15th Arkansas."

Below is a carved Major General's insignia—a wreath with three stars, the middle one the largest, and underneath the letters "C. S." representing those ill-fated but historic words, Confederate States.

Although it is a most interesting memento, and we believe our readers will enter into the fond reverence with which we regard and speak of it.

Reports have been received at Omaha, from Fort McPherson, that a party of twelve surveyors, under Nelson Buck, are missing. A portion of their camp equipment and instruments were found fifty miles south of Fort McPherson. It is feared they are murdered by Indians.

It is reported that, on Thursday last, two suspicious-looking steamers, supposed to be Cuban privateers, were anchored in Gardner's Bay, one coaling from the other. The revenue cutter Seward is cruising in search of these vessels, but it is said they have succeeded in making their escape.

The picturesque way the ladies now have of wearing their shawls is very notable, says a New York letter writer: "What was once commonly a very ugly garment, has, by an adroit change in the mode of wearing it, become as striking in effect as the costumes of the Orientals."

A Missouri girl lately shot at and missed a young man who had invited her away from her home, taken her to Omaha and then deserted her. She had three more shots left, but the young man capitulated, and compromised the unpleasantness by cleaving to her again.

The Cabinet.

Recently the President of the United States quarreled with Gen. Sherman, and the latter resigned his place in the Cabinet, as Secretary of War. To a few people about Washington, the change was a "big thing," and much has been said about it; but to the honest yeomanry of Harrison, the effect will be about the same as that of a white crow flying over our court-house. Sherman, it seems has been and is sympathizing deeply with Cuban Rebels, and wanted his government to recognize them as belligerents. The cabinet was not as fully imbued with the principles of humanity as Sherman, and a recognition was therefore refused, and Sherman resigns.

Now comes another flutter with the disappointed Washingtonians, and the editorial whangdoodles of the country. Grant sends to the State of Iowa and brings Gen. Belknap to Washington, and appoints him Secretary of War. Belknap is a republican and served the army that belonged to the north, and is no doubt an honest man; but the poor inoffensive cuss has been abused without stint, because he was not well known by everybody—or because he has not stolen a million or two from the government—or perhaps he didn't kill every rebel-prisoner that fell into his hands. One thing is certain—no serious charge is drummed up against him yet, unless an offence can be made of the fact that he married a Kentucky lady. Matters are settling down and it is hoped that Grant and his cabinet will have a good time yet, and all go fishing next spring.

The Yerger case has at last been decided by the Supreme Court of the United States. Our readers will doubtless remember that Mr. Yerger killed Col. Crane, in Mississippi many months since. He was tried and condemned to die by a drum head court or commission, formed of Federal Soldiers for the purpose of convicting prisoners. A writ of habeas corpus was asked for but refused by the court in Mississippi. An appeal was made to the Supreme Court, and a decision rendered that they had jurisdiction; but they have not granted the writ. That will come up soon. When the writ is granted Mr. Yerger will be taken from the soldiers and tried according to law. Judge Chase and his colleagues have had the independence, in this case to trample upon the Republican Party, somewhat, now let them have the fairness, in Heaven's name, to declare the unconstitutionality of the re-construction laws. All the radicals in Washington, are shaking with fear least a decision will be made.

Distillers' Convention.

On Wednesday, November 3rd, 1869, the Distillers, and all persons interested in the manufacture of Bourbon Whisky, in Kentucky, are respectfully requested to meet at the Phoenix Hotel, in Lexington, Ky. There, with the united wisdom of the men of the State, it is proposed to do something to make Uncle Sam let up a little in his press upon distillers, as a class, that they may have a breathing spell. It is necessary that something should be done to save this class of people from great loss and utter ruin, and we know of none so well qualified as the distillers themselves to work out their own salvation. This can be done with an effort, but it cannot be done without the united effort of all the people interested in distilling Bourbon Whiskey. Don't say to yourselves that it will be a useless expending of money to attend the meeting, for it is now well known that the obnoxious law which is now in full force to regulate the distillation and manufacture of whisky, and which has caused so many to "shut up shop," could have been modified by the distillers had they made the proper appeal to Congress, to that extent that the stream might now be flowing. Go then to the meeting

What is Baptism?

Mr. Editor:—As much has been said of late in this community on the subject of baptism, and as many appear not to understand precisely what it is, I deem it important to publish a few facts, and statements which will throw light on the subject, and have a tendency to settle the controversy with all lovers of truth. Many claim that any one of three things is valid baptism, viz: Immersion, sprinkling or pouring. All scholars know that baptize is not a translation of the Greek word baptizo, which was used by Christ and his Apostles to designate the ordinance of baptism. To learn the meaning of baptizo, we must not consult English but Greek Lexicons. The word must mean what the standard Lexicons of the Greek language says it means. In the Campbell and Rice debate, Mr. Rice produced twelve Greek Lexicons, and gave the meaning of baptizo from them as follows:

Scapula.—To dip or immerse, also to dye, as we immerse things for the purpose of coloring or washing them, also to plunge, submerge, to cover with water, also to cleanse to wash. Hedericus.—To dip, immerse, to cover with water, to cleanse, to wash, to baptize in a sacred sense.

Stephanus.—To dip, immerse, as we immerse things for the purpose of coloring or washing, to merge, submerge, to cover with water, to cleanse, to wash.

Schlessner.—To plunge, to immerse, to cleanse, to wash, to purify with water.

Parkhurst.—To immerse in or wash with water in token of purification. Robinson.—To immerse, to sink, for example, spoken of ships, galleys, &c., in the New Testament to wash to cleanse by washing, to wash ones self, to bathe to perform ablution.

Schrievellius.—To immerse, to cleanse, to wash.

Groves.—To dip, immerse, immerse, plunge, to wash, cleanse, purify.

Bretschneider.—Properly often to dip, often to wash—then (1) simply to wash, to cleanse.

Smdas.—To sink, plunge, immerse, to wet, wash, cleanse, purify.

Wahl.—To wash, perform ablution, cleanse, immerse, &c.

Greenfield.—To immerse, immerse, submerge, sink, and in the New Testament, to wash, perform ablution, cleanse, to immerse.

All of these Lexicons says baptizo means to immerse. Not one says it means to sprinkle or pour. Mr. Rice could not find one Lexicon that said it meant sprinkle or pour. In fact he admitted that the Lexicons did not definitely express sprinkling or pouring. Because wash was given as one of its meanings, he contended that we could wash by sprinkling or pouring. It is certain that in ordinary conversation we do not use sprinkling and pouring as synonymous with washing. When we say the dishes or clothes have been washed we do not mean that a little water has been sprinkled or poured on them. Paul, it is true, spoke of his brethren as having had their bodies washed in pure water; but it is certain that those who practice pouring and sprinkling never wash the bodies of their subjects. Neither do they dye, stain, bathe, sink, or even wet them. They do not therefore practice any meaning of baptizo as given by the Lexicons.

1st COMMENTATORS.

Witins says: "It is certain that both John the Baptist and the Disciples of Christ, ordinarily practiced immersion, whose example was followed by the ancient church."

Samuel Clarke says: "In the primitive times the manner of baptizing was by immersion, or dipping the whole body into the water."

Doddridge says: "It seems the part of candor to confess that here, (Rom. 6-4) is an allusion to the manner of baptizing by immersion."

Abj. Tillotson says: "Anciently those who were baptized were immersed and buried in the water, to represent their death to sin."

Bp. Taylor, says: "The custom of the ancient churches was not sprinkling, but immersion."

Mede says: "There was no such thing as sprinkling used in baptism in the Apostles days, nor for many ages after them."

Calvin, the founder of the Presbyterian church, says: "The very word baptize signifies to immerse, and it is certain that immersion was the practice of the ancient church."

Wesley, the founder of the Methodist church, says: "Baptized with him, alluding to the ancient manner of baptizing by immersion."

Many other commentators might be quoted to the same effect, none of whom were immersionists themselves.

2nd HISTORIANS.

The leading church historians, such as Mosheim, Giesler, Du Pin, Waddington and Neander, all agree that for about two hundred and fifty years after Christ, nothing but immersion was practiced for baptism, and that for thirteen hundred years it was generally practiced by all christian nations even after sprinkling was used in cases of sick or feeble persons.

Dr. Wall, a learned Episcopalian, who wrote a history of infant baptism, says: "Dipping was the primitive mode of baptism, and declares this to be so plain that, 'one cannot but pity the weak endeavors of such pedo baptists as would maintain the negative of it.'"

Dr. Whittly another learned Episcopalian, says: "And this immersion being religiously observed by all christians for thirteen centuries, and approved by our church."

Bishop Bossuet, one of the most learned and distinguished of the French Clergy, and a member of the Roman Catholic Church, says: "We are able to make it appear by the acts of councils and by the ancient rituals, that for thirteen hundred years, baptism was thus administered (by dipping) throughout the whole church as far as possible."

Other eminent historians testify to the same effect. It is clear therefore, that immersionists are supported in their practice by all Greek Lexicons of any note, and by the united testimony of the ancient commentators and historians.

When these facts are laid before the people, many wonder how sprinkling ever came to be practiced. The Edinburgh Encyclopedia, under the article baptism, gives the following account of the origin of sprinkling: "The first law to sanction sprinkling as baptism was made by Pope Stephen II, in 753. It was not till the year 1311, that a council held at Ravenna, declared immersion or sprinkling to be indifferent."

It was with the Roman Catholics, therefore, that sprinkling originated, and it was the result of the assumed power and pretended infallibility of the Catholic Church.

When men practice sprinkling or pouring for baptism, they ought to say that they do so by the authority of the Roman Catholic Church, and not by the authority of Christ or his Apostles.

I am sorry to see any bad feeling in the community from the agitation of this and kindred subjects. For myself, I can oppose what I believe to be error in any man or set of men, without thinking any less of them personally. Alienation, however, even among those who are most closely united, has always been one result of bringing truth into contact with error. Christ foretold this when he said he did not come to send peace on the earth, but a sword, &c.

The little bad feeling that may now exist with some, will soon pass away, and the truth will only shine the brighter by being closely rubbed.

In the meantime we must earnestly contend for the faith once delivered to the saints, if those who are in error do become offended. Christ and his Apostles never ceased to expose error because they gave offense by so doing. I can truthfully say that I have not the slightest illfeeling towards any one for simply differing with me in religious views.

That the truth may prevail, by whomsoever held is my most earnest prayer.

D. W. CASE.

A Fearful Accident

A Baby Stabbed to the Heart.

From the Cincinnati Times, 16th. One of the most singular accidents we have had to record for many a year occurred at the residence of Mr. Vinage, near Jones' Station, on the line of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad, last Thursday night.

A married daughter, who lives in Kentucky, was on a visit to the old homestead, with her child, some seventeen months old. The little one being hungry, asked for a piece of bread, which the mother ordered the servant girl to get.

The latter picked up the child in her arms, took a long carving knife from the cupboard, and started down the cellar steps to the place where the bread was kept. In going down her foot slipped, and as she fell the knife stood point upward on the steps, the blade of which penetrated the heart of the child, producing instant death. The pen fails to depict the grief of the almost heart-broken mother when the corpse of her darling babe was brought into her presence. The house which only a few moments before was a scene of joy and festivity was, by the singular accident, turned into a place of mourning and sorrow.

This was Mr. Jesse Wilhite's child of this county.

LET US PROTECT OURSELVES.

The physical structure of the strongest human being is vulnerable everywhere. Our bodies are endowed by nature with a certain negative power, which protects them, to some extent, from unwholesome influences; but this protection is imperfect, and cannot be safely relied on in unhealthy regions, or under circumstances of more than ordinary danger. Therefore, it is wisdom; it is prudence; it is common sense to provide against such contingencies, by taking an ANTIDOTE IN ADVANCE; in other words by fortifying the system with HOSSETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS—the most complete protective against all the epidemic maladies that have been administered in any country. As a remedy for Dyspepsia, there is no medicine that will compare with it. Who suffers the pangs of indigestion, anywhere on the face of the earth where HOSSETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS can be procured, does so voluntarily; for, as surely as truth exists, this invaluable tonic and cathartic will restore his disordered stomach to a healthy condition. To the nervous it is also especially recommended, and in cases of confirmed constipation it also affords speedy and permanent relief.

In all cases of fever and ague the BITTERS is more potent than any amount of quinine, while the more dangerous cases of bilious fever yield to its wonderful properties. Those who have tried the medicine will never use another, for any of the ailments which the HOSSETTER BITTERS professes to subdue. To those who have not made the experiment, we cordially recommend an early application, to the BITTERS whenever they are stricken by disease of the digestive organs.

The survey of the line of the proposed Cincinnati Southern Railroad, between Versailles and Harrodsburg, Ky., was commenced on the 14th inst.

A young man named Browning, a son of Nat. Browning, of Powersville, in Bracken county, lost his life while hunting on Sunday week, by the careless handling of his gun, in climbing a fence. The charge went in his eye and came out at the back of his head.

Mr. J. W. McKee, left at our office last Monday, by far the largest apple yet, known as the Hubbardson Nonsuch variety. It weighs one pound and four ounces. The tree was cultivated and grown in J. A. McKee's Nursery, who has quite a number for sale at his Nursery.

In digging a well near Allison's mill, in Nicholas county, a regular furnace, supposed to have been used for making salt, was excavated. It was found at a distance of twenty-three feet below the surface, and all the material employed in its construction was in good preservation.

Last week we received a letter from a friend announcing the marriage of Miss Anna Offutt to Mr. J. H. Ewalt, and Miss Lizzie Redmon to J. H. Lair. It turns out that these handsome and clever people are not married. We hope, however, that the announcement has done no injury, and that we may yet have the pleasure of announcing that happy event.

Next winter our Legislature will elect a United States Senator. Mr. McCrery, the present incumbent is popular in Harrison. The merits of the governor have been discussed here, and we understand that the conclusion arrived at, is that he has not been sufficiently "gingered" to make a race for the Senate.

Cold weather is here. Have you bought your winter boots and shoes? A. Williamson has the cheapest for men and boys.

The "Colombo Restaurant," on Main street, has plenty of birds. Those who love a winter drink—or a "Bell overcoat"—together with palatable eating, should call at this popular resort.

J. H. Gray & Co., shipped 2 car loads of splendid harness and saddle horses, and a few well broke mules, from this city to Mississippi, last week.

J. H. Gray, of this county, sold a Cotswold Lamb, which was lambed late in April last, to Wyatt Martin. It weighed 143 lbs.

William Coleman, a conductor on the Lebanon Branch Railroad, in passing from one car to another, lost his footing and fell between the two, one or more cars running over him. When taken up, life was extinct, and the body was horribly mutilated.

The "Paris Kentuckian," says that unless we change our way the Devil will get us. We advise the Editors of that excruciating hebdomad, to procure a mirror and look at their ugly selves. If the face represents the heart, as many philosophers have asserted, we should say that the Devil had already taken sovereign possession of them.

Smith, of the "Commonwealth," is a handsome but funny fellow. He and "Yuba Dam" had a big laughing spree, or some other kind of a spree, at the loud and early crowing of our chicken. He laughed through his teeth, however, for his party in Pennsylvania were in reality defeated, and Packer would be Governor to-day, if the legal votes cast for him had been counted. How about that Smith?

Dr. McDowell has gone to St. Louis. Madam Rumor has it, that the gallant Major has gone there to commit—well, we won't say because it might not happen. We understand, however, that he has engaged rooms for two at the Hotel, in this city. He might remark:—"We met—high ho! one year ago; to see was to adore you—at least to know, I told you so, and none I ever saw before you."

Since the above was in type, we have learned that the Doctor was married, on Tuesday last, to Miss Mary McDowell, a beautiful and accomplished lady. The fair are always reserved for the brave and good, and none are worthier than our gallant McDowell.

Last Saturday morning Alex. G. Roberts, shot and instantly killed Marion Bohannon, a merchant of Consolation. Mr. R. is a citizen of Shelbyville, now, but was a resident of Falmouth, where he practiced law. The difficulty took place on the cars going towards Louisville from Frankfort, and from all we can learn Mr. R. killed the man because he was compelled to. It seems that Mr. R. had been taken to Frankfort as a witness, and the evidence which he had given exasperated Mr. B., who immediately threatened his life, and pursued Mr. R. until he met with this tragic end.

We have known Mr. Roberts many years and have never heard him spoken of as a bad man. He was a Captain, in command of a company in the 5th Kentucky Infantry C. S. A., but resigned his position before the close of the War.

Last Tuesday morning Mr. Jehu Chadwick and wife, left this city for their home near Crawfordsville, in Indiana. Mr. C. has been visiting his relatives here. This is his native county. Mr. Willis Ziler, a nephew of his, moved him to Indiana about 35 years ago, and this is Mr. C.'s first visit since he left. He was then a poor man, but has with industry made himself and family independent—and now while on the sun down side of life, takes pleasure in visiting the scenes of his boyhood and enjoying the fruits of his industry. Long may he wave.

A school for negro men who desire to preach the gospel has been opened in Lexington. It is under the patronage of the Christian Church. Fourteen candidates have already applied. The Woodford Weekly, noticing the presence of the railroad surveyors in that county, says:

The route, by the way of Georgetown, through this county, is regarded by railroad men as quite favorable for the location of this grand trunk road.

The Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance of the State of Kentucky held their annual session at Harrodsburg last week. The attendance of delegates was not large, yet sufficient to make the convention very interesting and enabled it to transact a large amount of business. The following officers were elected for the ensuing term: Colonel A. D. Smalley, of Campbell county, G. W. P.; A. M. Myres, of Bracken county, G. W. A.; J. W. Zimmerman, of Bracken county, G. S.; R. P. Marshall, of Bracken county, G. T.; G. W. Bratten, of Robertson county, G. Con.; A. Insko, of Robertson county, G. Sent.; Rev. J. M. Lee, of Harrison county, G. Chaplain.

The debt of the Kentucky Central Railroad is as follows: 1st mortgage, bonds of $128,000, due in 1873; 2d mortgage, $794,000, due in 1883; 3d mortgage, $237,000, due in 1885. All of these bonds bear seven per cent. The total, $1,159,000.

Tennessee Senator.—The Tennessee Legislature yesterday elected Henry Cooper, of Davidson county, U. S. Senator. The final ballot stood:

Henry Cooper 55
Andrew Johnson 51

SALES.—On the 30th of October, N. M. Derbin will sell all his live stock.

On Monday, November 1st, Francis Gregg and Susan Rogers will sell at the Court-House door in this city, a tract of Land. See advertisement in another column.

Not long since, in the vicinity of Utica, New York, a marriage was solemnized in a singular manner. As the parties to be married entered the parlor arm in arm, the clergyman met them midway in the room, when the bridegroom, taking the right hand of the bride, said: "We have promised to protect each other so long as we live. We intend now to be united, and hereafter to live together as husband and wife, and we have invited you to be present this evening to sanction our union according to the requirements of custom and the laws." The clergyman, in reply, said: "By the authority I possess as a clergyman, and in the presence of these witnesses I hereby (laying on his hand) recognize you as husband and wife in fulfillment of your promises." Prayer followed and the ceremony was ended.

DEATH OF CAPT. GEO. MOORE.—Capt. Geo. Moore, one of the oldest citizens of this county, died at his residence, last night about 9 o'clock, after a long and painful illness, in the 80th year of his age. Capt. Moore was a soldier in the war of 1812, and has resided in this county for upwards of half a century. He was a useful and respected citizen, and has been a consistent member of the Christian church, in this city, for many years.—[Paris Citizen.]

Live Stock Market.—The cattle market east reported in yesterday's papers, all give a decline. New York reports 8,500 beefs, with 3,800 on sale on Monday. Trade slow and prices 1/4 to 1/2 lower; 16 1/2 for best Kentucky.

ALBANY.—Disastrous market to sellers. 1 1/4c. decline on best cattle, and 1/2c. on common.

ALLEGANY.—Decline of 25c. per 100 lbs.; 7 1/4c. price of extra. CINCINNATI.—2,245 beefs received. Sales dull, but steady. Common $3 50; fair $4; good $5. COVINGTON.—2,190 received; 1,130 gone east; best $6 75.

Sheep are also quoted a little lower. 13,664 head received at New York, range from 4 to 6 1/2c. At Covington 2,460 received at $3 to $4 50. Lambs $1 50 to $3 50. Hogs.—Shoats sold yesterday at Stone's at 11c.; light fats at 10c. At Covington 890 head were received, with prices from 9 1/2 to 10 1/2c.

A WATCH, pair of Blankets, Quilt or Shawl for One Dollar appears almost impossible, but such may be had and hundreds of other useful articles by patronizing PARKER & CO.'S "ONE DOLLAR SALE."

Their system of doing business has been examined by the Internal Revenue department at Washington, dated Nov. 4th, 1888, declaring their business perfectly fair and legitimate and entirely different from the numerous enterprises. Of course all do not get watches, blankets, &c., for One Dollar, but in every large Club, one of these articles are sold for One Dollar, as an extra inducement, and some member of the club has the chance of obtaining it. A new feature introduced by the enterprising firm, is to pay their agents in either cash or merchandise and to pre-pay the express charges. No better opportunity can be offered to Ladies or Gentlemen, having leisure time, than to form a club for this firm.

Read their advertisement in another column, and send for catalogue.

DOTY'S WASHING MACHINE,
LATELY MUCH IMPROVED—AND THE NEW
Universal Clothes Wringer.
Improved with Rowell's Patent Double Cog-wheels, and the Patent Stop, are now unquestionably far superior to any apparatus for washing clothes ever invented, and will save their cost twice a year, by saving labor and clothes.
Those who have used them give testimony as follows:
"We use our machine much; could not be persuaded to do without it, and with the aid of Doty, we feel that we are masters of the situation."—Rev. L. Scott, Bishop M.E. Church.
"It is worth a dollar a week in any family."—N. Y. Tribune.
"In the laundry of my house there is a perpetual thanksgiving for money for the invention."—Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler.
"Every week has given it a stronger hold upon the affections of the inmates of the laundry."—N. Y. Observer.
"I heartily commend it to economists of time, money, and contentment."—Rev. Dr. Bellows.
"Friend Doty—Your last improvement of your Washing Machine is a complete success. I assure you your Machine, after a year's use, is thought more of to-day than ever, and would not be parted with under any circumstances."—Solon Robinson.
"Your Washing Machine has been in daily use in our laundry, and the housekeeper expresses herself as highly pleased with it. It certainly accomplishes a greater amount of work, with less labor, and does not wear the clothes near so much as the old fashioned wash-board. By using it, one laundryman is dispensed with. Wm. M. P. Round, Superintendent of Infant Department of St. Catharine's Nursery, N. Y. City.

PRICES.—A Fair Offer.
Send the retail price, Washer $14. Extra Wringer $9, and we will forward either or both machines free of freight to places where no one is selling; and so sure are we they will be liked, that we agree to refund the money if any one wishes to return the machines free of freight, after a month's trial, according to directions.
No husband, father or brother should permit the drudgery of washing with the hands, fifty-two days in the year, when it can be done better, more expeditiously, with less labor, and no injury to the garments, by a Doty Clothes Washer, and a Universal Wringer.
Canvassers with exclusive right of sale in each territory, are sent by the manufacturer, and by dealers generally, to whom liberal discounts are made.

DR. HUNTER.
CONTINUES to treat all private diseases, syphilis, all forms of gonorrhea, gleet, stricture, &c., completely eradicated. This numerous class of cases resulting from self-abuse, producing unsoundness, nervous debility, irritability, eruptions, sexual enervation, and finally impotency, permanently cured. Persons afflicted with delicate, intricate, and long-standing complaints are politely invited to call for consultation, which costs nothing. Experience, the best of teachers, has enabled him to perfect remedies at once efficient, safe, permanent, and which in most cases can be used without hindrance to business. Medicines prepared in the establishment, which combine office, reception and waiting rooms, also boarding and sleeping apartments for patients requiring daily personal attention, and vapor and chemical baths, thus concentrating the fundamental springs. Both sexes, married or single, suffering from indiscretions, indulgence, or exposure, may apply and be cured. No matter who have failed, state your case. Read what he says in his pamphlet, sent to any address free. Thousands of cures treated annually at office and all over the country. Consultation free, personally or by mail. Office, No. 183 Third Street, between Green and Walnut, near the postoffice, Louisville, Ky. Office hours, 9 A. M. to 7 P. M.; Sundays, 10 A. M. to 12 M.

FOURTY THOUSAND CASES OF GOODS were shipped from our house in One Year, to Builders, Clubs, and merchants, every part of the country, from Maine to California, amounting in value to over One Million Dollars.
Our facilities for transacting this immense business are better than ever before. We have agents in all the principal cities to purchase goods from the Manufacturers, Importers, and others, for CASH, and often an immense sacrifice, from the original cost of production.
Our stock consists, in part, of the following goods:
Shawls, Blankets, Laces, Cottons, Ginghams, Dress Goods, Table Linens, Towels, Hosiery, Gloves, Skirts, Corsets, &c., &c.
Silver-Plated Ware, Spoons plated on Nickel Silver, Dessert Forks, five-buttoned Knives, Brackets, Banners, Glass Ware, Table and Pocket Cutlery, in great variety.
Elegant French and German Fancy Goods, Beautiful Photograph Albums, the newest and choicest styles in Morocco and Velvet Bindings.
Morocco Travelling Bags, Handkerchiefs and Glove Boxes, &c.
Gold and Plated Jewelry, of the newest styles.
We have also made arrangements with some of the leading Publishing Houses that will enable us to sell the standard, and latest works of popular authors at the one-half the regular price—such as BYRON, MOORE, BURNS, MILTON, and TAYLOR'S WORKS, in full gilt and Cloth Bindings, and hundreds of others.
These and everything else for
One Dollar For Each Article.
We now offer a single article of merchandise that can be sold by regular dealers at our price. We do not ask you to buy goods from us unless we can sell them cheaper than you can obtain them in any other way, and the greater part of our goods are sold at about
ONE-HALF THE REGULAR RATES.
We want good reliable agents in every part of the country. By employing you spare time to form clubs and sending us orders, you can obtain the most liberal commissions, either in CASH or MERCHANTS. Send all good orders to the goods we present, and we guarantee satisfaction to every one dealing with our house.
Agents should collect ten cents from each customer and forward to us in advance, for Descriptive Checks of the goods we sell. The holders of the Checks have the privilege of either purchasing the article thereon described or of exchanging for any article mentioned on our Catalogue, numbering over 300 different articles—not one of which can be purchased in the usual way for the same money.
The advantages of first sending for goods are these: We can constantly keep a large stock of very valuable goods, for which we issue checks till all are sold; besides in every large club we will put checks for Watches, Quills, Blankets, Dress Patterns, or some other article, of value, giving some members of the club an opportunity of purchasing an article for about one quarter of its value.
In every order amounting to over $50, accompanied by the cash, the Agent may retain $2.00, and in every order over $100, $3.00 may be retained to pay the Express Charges. This offer is more especially for Agents in the Western and Southern States, but is open to all customers.
COMMISSIONS: Agents will be paid ten per cent. in cash or merchandise, when they fill up their entire club, for which we will give a partial list of commissions.
For an order of $30 from a club of thirty, we will pay the agent, as commission, 25 cents. For an order of $50 from a club of fifty, we will pay the agent, as commission, 45 cents. For an order of $100 from a club of one hundred, we will pay the agent, as commission, 100 yds. good yard-wide sheeting, coin-silver hunting case watch, rich long wool shawl, suit of full French cassimere, etc., etc., or $10 in cash.
We do not employ any travelling agents, and customers should not pay money to persons purporting to be our agents, unless personally acquainted.
Send money always by registered letters. For further particulars send for catalogue.
